Training Programme - 2022

Devonshires' Employment Team is pleased to publish our programme of seminars/ events for 2022. Looking at what is coming up in 2022 and taking account of feedback from previous sessions we have designed a programme which mixes some new topics with some perennially popular ones. Our seminars are specifically aimed at HR Professionals and are designed to provide knowledge and practical analysis and the opportunity to share experiences between peers. This year we are pleased to be able to deliver our training programme with a mix of virtual and in person sessions from our London office, with also delegates being able to attend remotely.
